Dear [OPRD Public Records],

On April 14, 2026, I sent a formal response to your cost estimate dated April 10, 2026, regarding my public records request submitted April 2, 2026. That letter demanded a fee waiver, revised cost estimates with specific justification, and immediate production of low-cost items.

Thirteen days have passed. I have received no response.

I am following up to confirm receipt of my April 14 letter and to request a response within seven days of this message.

If I do not receive a fee waiver decision, revised estimates, or production of the low-cost items by that date, I will pursue the legal remedies outlined in my prior letter without further notice.

Sincerely,
Robert Samuel White

Dear [OPRD Public Records],

Thank you for your reply.

I need to correct an error in the address I provided with my public records request.

The address listed — [physical address]— is not a valid civilian address for my location. It is an administrative address assigned to the work center by the U.S. Forest Service for internal purposes and does not correspond to a deliverable location.

This is relevant because on March 24, 2026, law enforcement officers arrived at this location behind a locked federal gate that has no civilian address. Records referencing that visit may document this location in ways that are ambiguous or inaccurate. It should not be a basis for withholding responsive records.

My actual location is the Siltcoos Work Center, Siuslaw National Forest. The following GPS coordinates correspond to this location: 43.87164, -124.13440. When conducting your searches, please be mindful of this circumstance and use your best judgment to locate any responsive records.

I look forward to your next response. It will determine my next course of action.

Sincerely,
Robert Samuel White

One more correction.

The police visit was on March 26, 2026, the anniversary of [Program Manager]'s letter that explicitly cites my public speech as the reason for my expulsion.

Also I want to note that your response copies the deputy director. Their involvement in a public records request raises concern about whether this process is being managed institutionally rather than administered in accordance with Oregon public records law.

Again, I look forward to your response.

[OPRD Public Records],

It is 6:30pm on May 1, 2026. No records have been received. No communication has been received. Your written commitment of April 29, 2026 has not been fulfilled.

This request remains open. My next course of action will not be announced.

For accuracy, I need to correct this correction. It was indeed March 24th, 2026. I sometimes mix up the two dates because you dismissed me twice -- once from Honeyman, and then again two days later from the statewide program. The police visit occurred on the anniversary of the day you dismissed me from Honeyman. I will take special care in the future when quoting these dates.
