To whom it concerns:

This email serves as notification of a new document I will be circulating to legislators, press contacts, educators, and other interested parties. It is an informational deck that directly links to all primary documents and evidence in this matter.

It covers the entire timeline from when I wrote the "trust" email to [Volunteer Services Lead]...to the coercive meeting that followed where a manager told me to chew glass and swallow it while a supervisor lectured me about tone...to the strange encounter with the unidentified man and his camera...to the dismissal from Honeyman State Park after I called the manager a bully...to the expulsion from Oregon State Parks as a whole after the program manager further abused me on the phone...followed by my efforts seeking accountability for what at that point was a local matter...culminating in the presence of armed men attempting to intimidate me while I was in my pajamas.

You remain silent because silence is the only "defensible" act you've ever had.

At this point, I'm sure the defensibility feels pretty thin even to you.

Alas, here we are.

And here is the document.
