
YOU ARE MAINTAINING A FILE THE STATUTE FORBIDS

TO Oregon State Police

FROM Robert Samuel White, P.O. Box 334, Reedsport, Oregon 97467

DATE September 27, 2026

RE ORS 181A.250, and the file you hold on me

TESTIMONY v1.11

AI DISCLOSURE How this record is made.

ORS 181A.250 reads, in full:

No law enforcement agency, as defined in ORS 181A.010, may collect or maintain information about the political, religious or social views, associations or activities of any individual, group, association, organization, corporation, business or partnership unless such information directly relates to an investigation of criminal activities, and there are reasonable grounds to suspect the subject of the information is or may be involved in criminal conduct.

The information you collected about me is my website, my letters to the Director of Oregon Parks and Recreation, my letters to the Governor, and the document Oregon Parks and Recreation wrote about me.¹ Around it you gathered my driver's record, my work schedule, my vehicles, and satellite imagery with a waypoint set on my home, an RV in a small restricted area of a national forest.¹

The statute permits that only where two things are true at once. Your own file answers both.

It must directly relate to an investigation of criminal activities. The incident type your file carries is "Threat Assessment," and Detective Nelson closed it "for information only" with the sentence: "there is no evidence White has committed any crimes."¹

There must be reasonable grounds to suspect me of criminal conduct. Eighteen days before your detectives came to my door, Detective Hyde read my archive and wrote: "Based on the website nothing is standing out to me more than what Parks and Rec sent you. Sounds like this person does have a grievance with the former employer."¹ The referral that started it alleged no crime and quoted no threat. The reason it gave for itself was that my letters were "now including the Governor as well as our Director."¹

The verb in the statute is "collect or maintain." You are still maintaining it.

What you are maintaining is not a finding. Your file holds no crime. In place of one it holds words about me: I am classified in report SP26096984 as "Suspect; Volunteer."¹ The dispatch event Detective Nelson opened on March 23 states the basis as sending "concerning emails to former supervisors in parks department and publicly airing grievances."¹ A criminal intelligence analyst at the Oregon Department of Justice recorded that my actions "border on harassment due to the volume of emails that he has forwarded to OPRD staff over the last year."¹

Those words are in state systems now. I cannot see where they have gone, I cannot correct them, and they can be read by anyone with access to them, in any matter, for as long as you keep them. A citizen who writes to his Governor and is recorded by his state police as a suspect for doing it carries that record into every future encounter with the state.

That is the harm. It is not incidental to what ORS 181A.250 forbids. It is the thing ORS 181A.250 exists to prevent, which is why the statute bars keeping the file and not only making it.

Respectfully,

Robert Samuel White
